Has the economy turned a corner? Find out for yourself with Bank of England agent Keiran Dent

2023 was a challenging year for many businesses, with high energy costs, inflation and other commercial pressures causing uncertainty in the market that led to the economy tipping over into a mild depression by the year end.

However, economic forecasters are predicting that these pressures are reducing, and that the economy has turned a corner with growth ahead. With talk of the Bank of England reducing interest rates in the coming months, more green shoots are emerging.

Hear for yourself what the economic outlook for 2024 is for business in the Eastern region at our exclusive Entrepreneurs' Breakfast event with key speaker Keiran Dent, Bank of England Agent.

Members of Liberti organisations will be on hand to discuss any business issues you may want advice on. Coffee and breakfast pastries provided.
